

Boston Higashi School Continuing Adult Education Program Procedures and Policies

PROGRAM PURPOSE AND OBJECTIVES

The Continuing Adult Education Program (CAEP) at the Boston Higashi School (BHS) provides opportunities for adults with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) to participate in quality activities by utilizing highly trained staff and state-of-the-art infrastructure. Alongside their caretakers (e.g., parents, group home staff, etc.), BHS former students (participants) will engage in a variety of activities based on a rich curriculum that is aligned with the Daily Life Therapy® educational approach. Because this program is anchored in the notion that education is a lifelong experience, the activities offered through this program formed part of their curriculum when they were students at BHS. The activities included in CAEP provide opportunities for skill development in areas of deficit for individuals with ASD, including fine and gross motor skills, socialization, leisure, recreation and cognition. Through this, participants will be engaged in a fun and friendly community where they can establish healthy habits and strong relationships. The ongoing availability of this program will help the adults to not only establish, but also maintain these skills, thereby promoting outcomes in overall well-being.
